PARSNIPS ALL WINTER.

Parsnips may be allowed to remain in the ground and dug as needed, as freezing does not injure them.

As it is a difficult matter to dig them when the ground is frozen. it is advisable to store a small quantity in the storage room in the basement of the dwelling or in the outdoor storage cellar for use during the winter periods when the ground is frozen.

Write for farmers' bulletins 847 and 879, United States department of agriculture, Washington, which furnishes information on storage, free of charge.
